BAPTIST VOTE TO BUILD AT ONCE

Handsome New Church Home With Ample Accommodations To Be Erected

Enthusiasm characterized the services of the First Baptist church Sunday in the interest of the proposed new church building. The demonstration by the various classes in the Sunday School was unique and interesting. As requested by the pastor and superintendent on the previous Sunday, banners with appropriate mottoes were displayed by each class. These mottoes reflected the sentiment of the various classes in a striking manner. Some of them said: "Give Us a Room," "Do it Now," "There is only one real time—it is now," "If Jesus be our cornerstone, let our building be worthy of Him," "A time to break down and a time to build up," and many others equally appropriate to the occasion. In addition to the mottoes, some of the teachers or a member of the class spoke some fitting words with reference to the need of a new church building.

Rev. T. P. Dudley made a fine talk on the various mottoes and said that the banner presented by the Beginners' department, which read "Give us a room," was the best of all.

Mr. Harvey Chenault, chairman of the building committee, asked the church and Sunday School to authorize the committee to begin at once the wrecking of the old building and to pledge their assistance in cleaning the bricks so that they could be used in the new building.

The same interest and enthusiasm was shown in the 11 o'clock service at which time the church adopted the following recommendations made by the deacons of the church:

1.—That the church take steps immediately toward building a new house of worship;

2.—That the church authorize building committee to take up the matter with our architect, Mr. E. Stamler, of Lexington, and have him secure bids on the separate contracts as soon as possible and report same to the building committee.

3.—That the church instruct the building committee to proceed as soon as possible to have the old building wrecked and the material salvaged so as to have everything ready for the actual construction to begin at an early date.

4.—That the finance committee be authorized to collect as many pledges as possible so as to have funds in hand for the payment of our obligations when they fall due.

Dr. Green stated that since the plans for the new building had been started four of the original members of the building committee had gone. Mayor L. P. Evans, R. C. H. Covington and Calvin Taylor had passed to their heavenly reward, and C. H. English had moved to Virginia. Only the chairman, Mr. Chenault, remained. It was necessary to appoint additional members of the committee whose names are as follows: Dr. H. G. Sandlin, Prof. J. A. Kunkel, Mrs. Sallie D. Wagers, Miss Bessie Dudley and Mrs. Joe Oldham.

The plans for the new building were drawn three years ago by Architect E. Stamler, Lexington. On account of the high cost of labor and materials it was thought best to defer the building of the church to a more favorable time. In the meantime the Lawrenceburg Disciples church saw these plans and were so pleased with them that they adopted them with a few minor changes. A committee from the First Baptist church visited Lawrenceburg to see the new church last Thursday and were so delighted with it that they came back filled with enthusiasm and determination to begin the erection of the building at once.

The building will be erected on the present site of the old church and will be constructed of gray pressed brick with Bedford stone trimmings and a green tiled roof. The auditorium will contain ample accommodations for 600 or more and will be elegantly finished.

BEAUTIFUL PROGRAM FOR ANNUAL SERMON

27 Graduates of Madison High School Hear Baccalaureate Address of Dr. Logan

Sunday evening at the Presbyterian church the Baccalaureate sermon was delivered to the graduating class of Madison High School. This was the first number of a series of big events for this noteworthy class.

At an early hour the church was packed and many were turned away. As the class of 27 came marching down the aisle, many compliments were passed on their beauty, handsome costumes and attractive appearance. The good people of the Presbyterian church handsomely decorated the edifice with ferns and flowers and arranged an excellent musical program. The song by the quartet composed of Miss Louisa Roe, Miss Cynthia Davidson, Messrs. J. C. Bowman and Will Arnold, was greatly enjoyed and Miss Cynthia Davidson's solo was a rare musical treat.

With a few complimentary remarks, Supt. J. H. Payne introduced the pastor of the Presbyterian church at Midway, Rev. S. M. Logan, who delivered a powerful discourse which was not only practical and thought provoking but also sensible and appropriate.

All in all, the exercises were beautiful, uplifting, inspiring and attractive.

Several omissions were made in the list of graduates as printed last week. The full list of the graduates—27 in all—is as follows:

Anna Catherine Hugueny, Betsy Igo, Thelma McClintock, Edna Mullinix, Emma Newby, Effie Newby, Kathleen O'Neil, Ora Lee Parker, Faye Price, Mary Powers, Dorothy Terrill, James Anderson, J. L. Blevins, Luke Church, Frank Harber, Marshall Hurst, Orville Price, Talton Stone, Lafon Wilson, Lee Anna Ashcraft, Edna Baker, Bernice Logie, Hallean Hahn, Iva Jean Todd, Emma Mae Wells, Lou Wells and Josephine Yates.

MGR. STRATON BRINGS BIG SHOWS HERE

The Lorman-Robinson Famous Shows arrived over the L. & N. from Winchester Sunday where they played to capacity business. Devore's big transfer wagons were kept busy all Monday morning transferring their paraphernalia to the Barnett lot on the Red House pike and the big carnival crew of helpers have been busy in getting the shows ready for the opening performance tonight.

Manager Charles R. Stratton is an old man at the business, and knows it from A to Z. They travel in their own special train of cars, and it is the largest aggregation ever exhibited here. A concert was given in the bandstand this afternoon and will continue their concerts each afternoon and evening during the week.

It is a high class, clean organization, and Manager Stratton promises a gala week to all who attend. Special attention will be paid to the young folks and their mothers who visit the carnival.

The rear will be a three-story modern Sunday School building, containing all the latest designs in Sunday School architecture. The basement floor will contain the Beginners, Primary and Junior departments. The main floor will have a large ladies' parlor, and young ladies' room, library, pastor's study and a small serving room. The third floor will contain two large rooms which will be used for the housing of the rest of the Sunday School. The basement under the auditorium will have a kitchen and serving room and a large room for social gatherings. The building, when complete, will be one of the handsomest and most up-to-date Baptist churches in central Kentucky.

Architect Stamler was in town Monday conferring with the committee as to plans for starting construction of the new building.

LABOR LOSES MOST IMPORTANT CASE

(By Associated Press)

Washington, June 5—Bulletin—Labor organizations are not exempt from prosecution under the Sherman anti-trust law, the Supreme Court held today. The court delivered such an opinion in the celebrated Coronado Coal case, one of the most important pieces of labor litigation ever to come before the highest tribunal. The court held that labor organizations can be held liable for property and other damages caused by acts of members during a strike. The decision was delivered by Chief Justice Taft. The case was brought by the United Workers of America against the Coronado and other coal companies arising out of the Arkansas strikes of 1914.

Hobbs, of Lexington, was the speaker of the occasion and an impressive program was rendered.

BUSINESS GOOD JUNE COURT DAY

June court day was a big day for the cattle traders. Estimates were that there were over 6,000 cattle on the market here. The East End yards from which a report came early, had some 4,100, most of them sold. Prices were said to be a little lower than last court day. Nine hundred sheep sold well, with prices somewhat higher. About 100 hogs changed hands at this yard at satisfactory prices. Mules and horses were rather scarce with prices low and little demand. No report was received from the Madison yards in time for publication today but trading there was reported very brisk.

There was a big crowd in town and merchants reported business good for this time of the year.

AMERICA PRESENTS MEDAL TO VERDUN

Impressive Ceremonies As Ambassador Herrick Makes First Gift of the Kind

(By Associated Press)

Verdun, France, June 5—The first and only medal ever given by the United States government to any community in the world has taken its place among the cherished possessions of the city of Verdun. It was presented today by Ambassador Myron T. Herrick "in the name of the Congress and the People of the United States," to the municipality of Verdun "as a mark of America's appreciation of the valor of its defenders."

"It is the whole of the United States," said in his speech of presentation. "It is our supreme authority, our Congress, and our President, and with them, our people. One feels in this tribute, representing the sentiment of more than 100,000,000 human beings, something fundamental, massive. Their homage comes from the Pacific coast and the Sierras from the Appalachians and Eastern seaboard, from our Northern border, from our Mexican boundary, and from the plains and valleys between, sweeping like a tidal wave, across the ocean to Verdun."

The fame of Verdun and its defenders dates from February 21, 1916, when the German High Command began its colossal battle to crush the city, annihilate the French right wing and win an immense military and moral victory which, had it been successful, might have meant a different ending to the war.

But the defenders proved to be invincible. In the autumn of 1918, more than two years after the gigantic struggle began, the gallant army of Verdun stacked its arms with the knowledge that Imperial Germany had witnessed the crushing of its supreme hope.

The Germans, with seven army corps scattered around Verdun, also had 14 railroads at their disposal and more than 3000 pieces of artillery of all calibers. The French, with a river in the rear, had one railroad, which was under enemy fire. By sacrificing men and material on a lavish scale, the Germans counted upon rapidly overcoming all obstacles, smashing the defender's resistance under a deluge of 17-inch shells, and taking the city within a few days.

Their failure to force the tenacious French resistance was proved a year after the battle began, when it was learned that the Germans had employed 82 divisions in eleven months against the city, which still remained in the hands of the defenders. Beginning in August, 1916, Germany in consequence of the French-British offensive in the Somme, gradually abandoned the campaign around Verdun, in which venture she had sacrificed the pick of her troops. The city was finally and definitely cleared on both banks of the Meuse in November, 1918.

Building his speech upon this magnificent defense, Ambassador Herrick said that "Verdun and Valor are forever one and inseparable." "Here blazed the spirit of France," he continued. "The valor was the valor of France. General Petain had spoken for France. They shall not pass."

"And so this medal, which I give to this illustrious city, halloved by sacrifices and courage of all France is a tribute from the white United States to all of France."

"If the United States had seen this same French sacrifice and courage devoted to a selfish, unworthy cause," he added, "this tribute would not be offered today. It was because the horrors of this fight and glory of this victory meant safety and liberty to France; it is because France fought here, not as the aggressor, but as the champion of peace and righteousness that we of the United States feel, and take joy in expressing, our unstinted admiration."

Yet, he said, no one who had read Verdun's epic story could withhold admiration for the tremendous power of the German attack, and for the dogged pertinacity and courage of the German soldier.

"But no medal will ever be struck by the United States in

DEATH OF OLD ROSEBUD A BLOW TO TURF

(By Associated Press)

Louisville, Ky., June 3—The announcement that Old Rosebud had met with a bad accident which forced his owner to destroy him, was received with regret by all followers of the thoroughbred sport. But in the Blue Grass the loss of the once great race horse touched a much wider circle than that composed exclusively of followers of the turf.

For Old Rosebud was true son of the Blue Grass. The time in which he won the fortieth renewal of the Kentucky Derby in 1914—2:03 2-5—still stands as the record for the classic, notwithstanding the sterling thoroughbreds, including Sir Barton, Omar Khayyam, Regret, and Morvich, that have gone the mile and one-quarter to win the race in the eight years that have passed since the sturdy son of Uncle led the field to the wire at Churchill Downs. His name has been a household word and the symbol of speed in Kentucky homes for years and persons who never had witnessed a race spoke familiarly of "when Rosebud won the derby."

Before meeting with an accident in his early three-year-old form he was probably the speediest race horse this country has ever known.

Writing of the death of the great racer, V. Sanders, turf writer, relates the following incident in connection with a superstition entertained by Mr. Weir that to permit the holder of the Derby record to be photographed would bring bad luck to the splendid animal.

"Just after Old Rosebud had won the Derby, I was assigned by the managing editor of the Times to take the staff photographer to the Downs and get a picture of the horse in action. Mr. Weir threw up both hands and flatly refused me a picture of Old Rosebud, saying: 'It's the worst luck in the world. I shall never consent to your taking Old Rosebud in any position.'"

"I saw Col. W. E. Applegate, father of the half-owner of Old Rosebud, and asked him to arrange it. He tried hard to get Mr. Weir to bring the horse out on the course but to no avail. Finally Colonel Applegate told me that the colt was going to be worked the wrong way of the course the day before he was to be shipped east and if I could have the photographer there he thought there would be a chance to get his picture. We were on hand and Old Rosebud was brought out and given a stiff breeze. The photograph was made, showing his wonderful stride.

"That afternoon he was taken to Belmont Park. In his first race there he practically broke down. Mr. Weir, when he heard that a picture of the colt had been made before he left Louisville attributed his mishap to that fact."

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY SUPERINTENDENTS

At the Convocation of County School Superintendents at Eastern Normal, the following resolutions were adopted before adjournment:

We, the committee on Resolutions, beg leave to submit the following:

1. Whereas the last session of legislature increased the school term from six to seven months and made no provision for extra funds, we endorse the extension of the term for the good of the children and appeal to the loyalty and devotion of the teachers of the state to put not only spirit of love into their work but that each take some step in the way of local leadership to sustain said extension of term.

2. Whereas, a complete organization of the teaching force of the state has never been effected, and whereas, a need of such an organization is felt to create proper sentiment for support and direction of coming legislation, we recommend that every county superintendent enroll every teacher actually engaged in teaching, as a member of the County Teachers' Association, which shall be considered a unit of the K. E. A. and from each member shall be collected a minimum of $1.00 as membership fee in K. E. A., plus such other amount as may be needed for county library and other expenses of said unit.

3. Whereas, the Southern School Journal has, for the past 33 years, been the most potent influence in agitating promulgating, and advocating the steps of progress in the development of the school system and K. E. A., we recommend that each county superintendent include in estimate of dues from each member of the County Association Unit a subscription price of Southern School Journal.

4. For the more complete functioning of these units, we recommend an all time secretary for the K. E. A. to the end that the work of units may be more perfectly co-ordinated.

5. Whereas, we feel the need of better trained teachers we endorse the establishing of Summer Training Schools and we pledge our loyal hearty and individual support in the fulfillment of the educational plans of the present administration.

With thanks of the Convocation to the President, officers and faculty of Eastern for their cordial reception and entertainment the above is respectfully submitted.

"FOOT FITTERS"

Tom--Dick and Harry FIT ALL FEET

Just three of them, "Tom," "Dick" and "Harry"—all in the same leather. But they fit all feet all over. Solid leather all the way through! Plenty of ball room, giving absolute freedom to the toes! Snug glove-like fitters around the ankles and instep! Higher and narrower arch keeps foot from sliding forward. Narrow and shapely heel seat and counter follow natural curvature of foot, thus holding it in position. Better fitting and neater appearing than any shoe of its price.

Her many friends at home here were pleased to read the following in a Pasadena, Calif., paper from the facile pen of Miss Lucia Burnam, who is there on a visit to relatives:

Baetia Avenue, Pasadena
At the end of the street, the mountain stands,
Violet blue, majestic, grand.

By the sides of the street, the trees are green
Stand, sentinel wise, a living screen.

On all the lawns along the street,
The roses bloom, so fair and sweet.

Sometimes the mist, cold and gray
Hides the hills from my sight away.

But I know they are there, and ever they rise
To the living faith of the gazing eyes.

Pepper and camphor and oak and palm Breathe through their leaves, a living psalm.

Red as blood and white as snow
Opium's gold and poppy glow,
The roses riot high and low,
And even they say by the rich perfume
The world is full of joy—not gloom.

With mountains and roses and trees green
There's no lovelier street in the world

EASTERN DELEGATES GO TO BLUE RIDGE JUNE 2

(From Eastern Progress)

Miss Mae Wyan is to represent the Y. W. C. A. of Eastern at the Blue Ridge conference, which is to be held June 2 to 12.
This conference might well be called the "home coming" of the southern colleges, as it is here that girls from the southern states gather to enjoy the followship of the Y. W. C. A. girls from seventy southern colleges.

We often think of Blue Ridge as a "bit of Heaven" dropped to earth, for the surroundings are so inspiring that one can scarcely picture any place more perfect.

The tennis courts, outdoor swimming pool, volley ball and basket ball courts, and the lofty mountains, robed in their coats of many colors, all add to the splendor of this bit of rugged scenery in western North Carolina.

The conference consists of ten days of Bible, social and international study, together with platform addresses and forum hours, involving the whole Christian task. The program aims to give a clearer insight into the kind of God adequate today for personal and social living, and to afford opportunity for women to create together an attitude of mind that shall make for world understanding and spiritual co-operation.

Crittenden county in 1920 had a population of 13,125 as compared with 13,296 in 1910. The county contains 222,714 acres of land. Marion, the county seat, has a population of 1,718.

The Kentucky State Highway Commission in 1921 re-surfaced

"Tanlac has done so much for me it seems I just can't praise it enough," said Mrs. J. T. Alley, Box 448 Schoolfield, Va.

"I suffered so from indigestion and stomach trouble I couldn't eat a thing without intense pains.
Gas formed and caused such awful pains around my heart I could hardly stand it. If I ate anything with acid in it, like tomatoes, it almost drove me to distraction. I didn't know what it was to get a good night's sleep and could find nothing to help me.

"My little girl, nine years old,
had been suffering so dreadfully from indigestion I tried Tanlac in her case and it so completely relieved her I started on it myself.
Since taking four bottles I feel well and happy all the time, my appetite is just fine and I have gained ten pounds. I think Tan-

A large attendance is expected. Some high schools are planning to send their entire class.

SENIORS TO PLAY MANNER'S HAPPINESS

(From Eastern Progress)
Under the direction of Miss Miller, head of the Expression Department, the seniors will present "Happiness," a rollicking good play by J. Hartley Manners.

This is one of the best of English plays and has been received with hearty enthusiasm and great pleasure wherever it has been given. The setting is in England, where Jenny shows her ability and determination to assert herself. Naturally, she becomes loved and adored by all with whom she comes in contact.

There is a delightful atmosphere throughout the play that can only be realized by reading or seeing it. We feel very fortunate, too, by having one so willing to work and one with an immense talent for producing the best effect in performance combined in our lovely dramatic instructor, Miss Miller.

Jenny, a shop girl, is the heroine, all aglow with interest and enthusiasm, very much to the pleasure of her poor mother. This charming individual is 19 years old, small, thin and shabby. She has a quiet, rapid delivery and a whole hearted, healthy, exuberant manner.

The part of Jenny is to be played by no less charming an individual than that of Mary Joseph Jones. The rest of the cast is as follows: Philip Chandos, a tired, worn-looking man of 35, who shows good breeding and culture—Cowan Taylor; Ferny MacDonagh, a good natured Irishman, of 22—Roy Foster; Mrs. Chrystal Pole, a charming widow of 27—Christine Sandlin; Mrs. Wray, Jenny's mother, once very attractive, now pathetic, nervous and somewhat coquettish—Ruth Latimer; John Snowcraft, a good hearted man of 55—Walter Moser; Mrs. Perkins, an attractive young woman of 24—Verlinda Deatridge; Walter—Kearney Adams; a little boy—Harvey Blanton; a little girl—Dorothy Tyng; an assistant—Margaret Crooke; an applicant—Lena Martina Coates.

SWIFT'S PRODUCE REVIEW
Movement of eggs in producing sections is normal for this season of the year, but the quality is showing more uneven each week due to weather conditions. To obtain the highest market for eggs, producers should give careful attention to and are urged to follow the suggestions of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, which are:
1—Produce infertile eggs by removing the roosters from the flocks in the summer time.
2—Provide clean nests and keep eggs clean.
3—Do not wash eggs.
4—Gather the eggs twice daily during the summer, to prevent them from being heated in the sun.
5—Keep them in a cool dry place away from flies.
6—Market them at least twice each week.

The movement of both live hens and broilers is on the increase. The demand for both, however, is good and conditions point to good values being paid, although as the new crop of broilers increases, both in quantity and size, the market will seek lower levels.

All indications are that the production of butter in the United States in the next few weeks will be the heaviest known.

The demand, however, is very good, both for current use and for storage purposes, and the prospects are for favorable market conditions.

Rural school teachers of Kentucky were paid a total of $5,741,785.24 in salaries during 1921.

When the Sun Went Down Last Night

(From Eastern Progress)
Many and many a thought may rise
And soar with the dawning sun,
And gleam through the light of the soul in our eyes
Bright as the radiant king of the skies.
But fade when the day is done.

Bright did the morning fancies seem
As a guileless drop of dew,
Pure as crystal mountain stream—
The glowing fragments of a dream!
When yesterday's sun was new.

Deep from the Cup of Hope I drank
In the dazzling noonday light;
But alas! the drosses of the morning shrank;
Mid darkening clouds of despair they sank,
When the sun went down last night.

THE SEA LURE

(From Eastern Progress)
The sailor boy plays in the surf of the sea,
A child of the foam and spray,
And the wavelets laugh and gurgle in glee,
And a low sweet laugh of mystery,
And the winds blow soft from the breath of the sea,
And find the child at play,
The same sweet notes of endless song.

Still fraught with mystery,
The storm-lashed billows, wondrous, strong,
That wooed him all his childhood long,
The sound of the waves—his cradle song
Won the youth to the sea,
Down in the fathomless depths of the deep,
Still sweep o'er his native home.
